Did you know...?

The area around City Park originally looked much different than today. The "business district" of Tremont was located around the park, or the square, as it was called. Some of the early merchants in the 1844 Tazewell County Whig newspapers were: Pratt & Ames, wagon makers; H.R. Brown, cabinet furniture; and Leonard Flint & Co., groceries and boots. It is also documented that the Masonic Opera House, H.F. Thomas' boot and shoe manufacturing business and a blacksmith shop were also located there. When the railroad came through town, businesses began to locate on South Sampson Street. Next time you are near the park, try to visualize the area as it once was!
